

FAMILY HEROES

All across the country there are amazing people who notice others in need and then invent ways to help. These powerhouses solicit donations of money and supplies, recruit and train volunteers, and network with nonprofit organizations, businesses and governments to make good things happen now. To honor these community champions, Family Circle invited readers to nominate their favorite local activists. From the scores of entries, our panel of judges picked these inspiring women—and one incredible boy—as winners in making the world a better place.
